NEW YORK:

PUBLISHED BY J. DISTURNELL,
102 BROADWAY,
Between Pine and Wall streets.

1846.

Entered according to the Act of Congress, in the year 1845,
By JOHN DISTURNELL,
In the Clerk's Office of the District Court for the Southern District of
New York.

TO THE TRAVELLING PUBLIC.

THIS Work is prepared and published, with the hope that it may be found useful in conveying to the TRAVELLER, correct information in regard to the times, starting-points, fare, &c., of the different Railroad and Steamboat Lines, leaving the cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington ; forming together a route which may be called the great artery, or thoroughfare, of the principal political, commercial, and pleasure-seeking travel and intercourse of the Union.

The Lines of Railroads, in connection with Lines of Steamboats, have so increased, and are likely so to increase, in number and importance, that the travelling public, and the business community generally, require new and detailed information respecting them, at shorter intervals than formerly. To obtain this end, but small editions of this work will be published at a time, in hopes of making it, if favorably received, more full and useful in future editions.

The Tables contained in this edition, have been prepared with the assistance of several agents of Railroad Companies and Steamboat proprietors ; and the information may be depended upon as being authentic,—subject, however, to change, both in rates of fare and times of leaving, at different seasons, which can be noted on the margin of this Guide.

The Publisher would feel much obliged, if persons possessing information in regard to new arrangements, or additional routes of travel, would communicate the same to him, by letter, or otherwise.

GUIDE

BETWEEN WASHINGTON, BALTIMORE, PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK, AND BOSTON.

THE CITY OF WASHINGTON,

The seat of government of the United States, is on the left bank of the river Potomac, in latitude $38^{\circ} 53'$ north ; being 40 miles from Baltimore, 137 from Philadelphia, and 225 miles from New York, by one continuous line of railroads.

In 1790, Congress passed "An act for establishing the temporary and permanent seat of the Government of the United States," directing the new location to be styled, THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA. Pursuant to this act, Gen. Washington, as President, selected this site for the seat of the Federal Government, and had the city laid out on a magnificent plan, suitable for the capital of a great and powerful nation.

In 1800, Congress for the first time took up its permanent abode in the new district ; and in May, 1802, Washington was incorporated as a city, being governed by a Mayor and Board of Aldermen. It now contains a population of about 30,000 inhabitants, and many splendid edifices.

The avenues and streets are wide and airy, many of them lined with stores and commodious dwellings, and ornamented with beautiful shade-trees. The Avenues are named after the different states of the Union, and are from 120 to 160 feet wide ; the other streets are from 70 to 110 feet wide. The ground on which the city is built, rises with a gentle acclivity from the river to the height of 50 to 100 feet above the tide waters of the Potomac. Only a small part of the extensive plan, however, is yet covered with buildings.

The business of the city is principally confined to Pennsylvania Avenue, between the Capitol and the President's House. Omnibuses and other carriages are always to be found on this street, offering a convenient mode of conveyance between the distant points of the city.

On the first arrival of the stranger at the city of Washington, the fine situation and grand proportions of the Capitol of the Union, strike him with admiration. Its dome, rising to the height of 230 feet above the tide waters of the Potomac, presents from its top a magnificent prospect, embracing the whole of the District of Columbia, an area of 10 miles square, and a large additional tract of the surrounding country, with the meanderings of the river, and the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

THE CAPITOL OF THE UNITED STATES is a lofty and commanding edifice, surrounded by beautiful grounds of about 22 acres in extent, the whole enclosed by a substantial iron fence. The building alone covers upwards of an acre and a half, and was finished in 1827, at a total cost of $1,746,718. The interior finish is in many respects gorgeous and well adapted for public purposes.

THE PRESIDENT'S HOUSE, one mile west of the Capitol, is an object of interest, and a place of great resort both for strangers visiting the metropolis, and for politicians. The mansion is 170 feet front, 86 feet deep, and two stories high, constructed of white freestone, with Ionic pilasters. It is surrounded by twenty acres of ground, laid out with taste, and planted in part with forest trees and shrubbery.

THE TREASURY BUILDING, located on Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania Avenue, is a noble structure, 457 feet long. The colonnade in front is very imposing, being the entire length of the building, consisting of thirty-one large fluted columns, in the style of the temple of Minerva Polios, at Athens.

The buildings devoted to the Departments of State, War, and the Navy, are but indifferent edifices, built of brick. They stand near the President's House, at convenient distances apart for all business purposes. The rooms of the several Secretaries, and other officers, are furnished plainly, but with appropriate neatness.

THE GENERAL POST OFFICE is a beautiful marble building, of the Corinthian style of architecture. It contains eighty rooms, and is well arranged for the purposes of the Department. It stands on E street, about equidistant from the Capitol and the President's House.

The PATENT OFFICE has become the most interesting depository in the Union. The building stands on F street, and is 280 feet long, 70 feet deep, and two stories high, with a basement. The first floor and basement contain each one large room, for models, and eight smaller ones, for offices, &c.

The upper floor, in one room, 275 feet by 65, is occupied by the "National Institution for the Promotion of Science." This is considered one of the most splendid rooms in America, and now contains an array of choice specimens of art and curiosities of nature, unrivalled on the continent. The noble collection contributed by the South Sea Exploring Expedition, alone constitutes a powerful attraction,—all of which is thrown open to the public free of charge.

The GREEN-HOUSE, in the rear of the above building, also attracts great attention, and is well worth visiting.

The models of mechanical genius and art, and the natural curiosities here deposited, in the same building, together with the statuary and paintings in the rotunda of the Capitol, alone render Washington a place of great interest at all seasons of the year.

The UNITED STATES OBSERVATORY, situated on an eminence, about one mile west of the President's House, near Georgetown, is well worthy of a visit. From the top is afforded a view of great extent and interest, embracing the city of Washington, Georgetown, the Potomac river, and the surrounding country for many miles.

The UNITED STATES NAVY YARD, about one mile east of the Capitol, is a place of much national interest and importance, where may usually be seen armed vessels of a large class.

The WASHINGTON ARSENAL stands on Greenleaf's Point, one mile south of the Capitol. It is on a commanding position, occupying a tract of land about a quarter of a mile square, being surrounded by water on three sides, presenting a fine appearance from the river and adjoining shores. Here are located several buildings for the use of the officers and soldiers; magazines, storehouses, and workshops.

The other public buildings are, the CITY HALL, JAIL, PENITENTIARY, and four MARKETS.

COLUMBIAN COLLEGE,

Incorporated in 1821, by an act of Congress, is delightfully situated on the high range of ground north of the President's House. The buildings are, a college edifice of five stories, including the basement and attic; two dwelling-houses, for Professors, and a philosophical hall—all of brick.

ROMAN CATHOLIC COLLEGE,

Georgetown, which lies contiguous to Washington, is the seat of the ancient college belonging to the Catholics, under the direction of the Jesuits; who have here also a nunnery, and other seminaries of learning.

CHURCHES.

There are 30 churches in Washington, most of which are plain edifices, as follows:—5 Episcopal, 4 Baptist, 4 Presbyterian, 6 Methodist, 3 Roman Catholic, 2 Lutheran, 1 Unitarian, 1 Friends' Meeting-house, and 4 African churches.

VICINITY OF WASHINGTON.

GEORGETOWN, situated three miles west of the Capitol, is at the head of navigation on the Potomac river, and is a port of entry, where centres a large amount of business. It contained, in 1840, 7,712 inhabitants. Many members of Congress, and others, connected with the government, reside here, it being of easy access, by means of carriages and omnibuses. The Heights of Georgetown are well worth visiting. From this eminence can be seen the cities of Georgetown and Washington—the Potomac river, and the Chesapeake and Ohio canal,—the aqueduct and the bridge across the river,—and the surrounding country.

ALEXANDRIA, situated on the south bank of the Potomac, seven miles south of the Capitol, and about 180 miles from the ocean, is an old and interesting city, and a place of considerable trade. The population in 1840, was 8,459. Here Gen. Braddock, in 1755, organized his army for the west; and here WASHINGTON, the father of the future republic, not only made himself distinguished, in his early years, but circumstances of a peculiar nature produced a mutual attachment, which led him to say, in writing from Yorktown, that, “Amidst all the vicissitudes of time and fortune, he should ever regard with particular affection, the citizens and inhabitants of Alexandria.” The Museum at this place is well worthy attention, as it contains many personal relics of Gen. Washington, as well as a large and valuable collection of specimens in natural history.

A steamboat runs several times daily between Washington and Alexandria—fare $12\frac{1}{2}$ cents,—affording a delightful excursion in pleasant weather.

MOUNT VERNON, eight miles below Alexandria, on the Virginia side of the Potomac, is a spot that will always be held in veneration by the American public, as being the favorite place of residence of Washington, while living, and as now containing his remains, which are here entombed. This spot ought to belong to the nation, and be so regulated, that all admirers of noble deeds, and pure and lofty principles, might here perform a pilgrimage.

On leaving Washington for Baltimore, by railroad, a distance of 40 miles, (fare $1.60,) the cars start from the depot near the Capitol, and run in a northeasterly direction to BLADENSBURG, Md., 6 miles. This is an ancient place, on the eastern branch of the Potomac. It is celebrated as the scene of an engagement, during the last war with Great Britain, in which the Americans being defeated and dispersed, the enemy marched on to Washington, which fell into their hands.

The ANNAPOLIS RAILROAD commences 20 miles from Washington, and diverges easterly to Annapolis, the capital of the state of Maryland, which is about 40 miles, by railroad, from Washington and Baltimore.

ELKRIDGE LANDING, 11 miles farther, is an old settlement, situated on the south bank of the Patapsco river. The viaduct which crosses the river near this place, and sustains the railroad track, is a splendid piece of masonry.

The RELAY HOUSE, 32 miles from Washington, and 8 from Baltimore, stands at the point where diverges the branch railroad to the former place. The main track of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which is finished to Cumberland, a distance of 178 miles, is now passed over in going to Baltimore. At the Depot in Pratt street, the terminus of the great work above named, commences the railroad to Philadelphia, a distance of 97 miles.

BALTIMORE,

The principal city of Maryland, and the third in population in the Union, is advantageously situated upon the northwest branch of the Patapsco river, about 14 miles from the entrance of the main branch into Chesapeake bay. The harbor is safe and capacious, of a depth sufficient to float ships of the largest class. This place was first settled in 1729, when it took the name of BALTIMORE, "in compliment to the Proprietary, whose ancestor took the title of Baron from a seaport of the same name in Ireland." In 1796, a city charter was granted by the legislature of the state; it then contained about 20,000 inhabitants. In 1840, the population of the city was 102,513.

The rapid growth of Baltimore in wealth and numbers, has been principally owing to its great natural advantages, and the enterprise of its inhabitants. It is about 200 miles from the ocean, and 300 miles from the navigable waters of the Ohio river,—this being the most accessible point of communication between the seaboard and the great valley of the Mississippi. The completion of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will always secure to this place a fair proportion of the trade of the west. The streets are mostly laid out at right angles, and the public buildings, stores, and dwellings are principally constructed of brick, in a neat and durable style. This place is noted for its monuments and shot-towers, which rise to a great height. Here also are constructed some of the finest and fastest sailing vessels that bear the American flag,—the "Baltimore Clippers" being admired by all naval architects. This is a great mart for all kinds of West India goods, lumber, wheat, and tobacco, the latter articles being exported in large quantities.

FORT M'HENRY, situated on a point of land 2 miles below the centre of the city, is a strong fortification.

ROUTES BETWEEN BALTIMORE & PHILADELPHIA.

The traveller, during the season of navigation, has a choice of two routes between Baltimore and Philadelphia ; first, by steamboat and railroad route, passing through Chesapeake bay, and crossing the state of Delaware, from Frenchtown to New Castle, 16 miles, by railroad,—thence up the Delaware river to Philadelphia ; second, by one continuous line of railroad, starting from the depot in Pratt st., Baltimore, and crossing the Susquehanna river at Havre de Grace by a steam ferry,—thence continuing through the states of Maryland and Delaware, into Pennsylvania, crossing the Schuylkill river at Gray's Ferry, 3 miles from the depot in Market st., Philadelphia.

STEAMBOAT ROUTEBETWEEN BALTIMORE AND NORFOLK, VA.

A line of steamboats leave Spears's wharf, Baltimore, at 4 o'clock, P. M., daily, Sundays excepted, for Norfolk, Va., running through Chesapeake bay.

From Norfolk passengers are conveyed by steamboat up James river to City Point, thence by railroad to Petersburg, Va., connecting, at the latter place, with the great line of inland travel between Baltimore and Charleston, S. C. Fare through from Baltimore, $21.

RAILROAD ROUTEFROM BALTIMORE TO PHILADELPHIA.

On leaving Baltimore for Philadelphia, 97 miles, by railroad, (fare, $3,) the cars start from the depot in Pratt st., and run to CANTON, 3 miles. Here is afforded a fine view of the harbor of Baltimore, and Fort M'Henry, situated on the south shore.

STEMMER'S RUN, 10½ miles from Baltimore, is the next stopping place.

GUNPOWDER DEPOT, 20 miles, is on the north side of the stream of the same name, which forms a wide branch or arm of Chesapeake bay, being about 1 mile across. During cold weather, here are usually found large quantities of ducks of various kinds, which frequent the waters of the Chesapeake. The most celebrated for their delicacy and fine flavor, are the canvass-backs and red-necks; then come the blue-wings, the shufflers, and the teal. The first are said to feed on wild celery, which gives them their peculiar flavor, so much esteemed by epicures.

BUSH RIVER, 8 miles further, is another wide stream, crossed by a railroad bridge, elevated a few feet above the water.

HAVRE DE GRACE, 37 miles from Baltimore, and 60 miles from Philadelphia, is a place of considerable importance. Here the Susquehanna river, about half a mile wide, is crossed by means of a large steam ferry-boat. The baggage cars are run on top, while the passengers change cars, and pass over the river in a spacious cabin, or saloon, where refreshments are usually furnished. About 15 minutes are taken up in crossing the river, giving time for a hasty meal.

NORTHEAST, 9 miles from Havre de Grace, is passed on the right, a short distance from the road.

ELKTON, 52 miles from Baltimore, and 45 miles from Philadelphia, is situated on the west side of Elk river, which is navigable to this place.

NEWARK, Del., 6 miles further, is a pleasant place, situated a short distance west of the railroad.

NEWPORT, 8 miles further, is a scattered settlement.

WILMINGTON, 70 miles from Baltimore, and 27 from Philadelphia, is situated on Christiana creek, a navigable tributary of the Delaware river, or bay, and 3 miles above its confluence. This is the principal place in the state of Delaware, both in numbers and commercial importance, and is rapidly increasing. The population in 1840, was 8,367. A steamboat runs daily between Wilmington and Philadelphia.

About one mile north of Wilmington, the railroad crosses Brandywine creek, near the scene of a sanguinary battle between the Americans and English during the revolutionary war.

MARCUS HOOK, Penn., 10 miles from Wilmington, is pleasantly situated on the west bank of the Delaware, which is here about one mile wide.

CHESTER, 3 miles further, is another pleasant village, and has a steamboat landing.

The LAZARETTO for Philadelphia, situated near the river, is next passed on the right.

FORT MIFFLIN, 2 or 3 miles further north, is situated on an island, and commands the approach to Philadelphia by water.

GRAY'S FERRY, across the Schuylkill, where is now erected a bridge, is 3 miles from Philadelphia. Here it is usual for the locomotive to stop, the passenger cars being drawn into the city by horse power.

On the approach to Philadelphia from this quarter, can be seen the Alms-house for the city and county, situated on the west side of Schuylkill river; the U. S. Arsenal and Marine Hospital, on the east side; the Eastern Penitentiary, and Girard's College in the distance, towards the north. From the top of the last building, which is a truly noble structure, may be seen the city of Philadelphia and the surrounding country, to great advantage.

PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, 88 miles from New York, 97 miles from Baltimore, and 137 miles from Washington, in lat. $39^{\circ} 56' 51''$ N., and long. $1^{\circ} 46' 30''$ E. from Washington, ranks, in extent, population, trade, and general importance, as the second city in the Union. Its principal front is on the west bank of the Delaware river, 105 miles above the mouth of Delaware bay, and it extends back 2 miles to the river Schuylkill. The largest ships can come up to Philadelphia, from which the distance across the Delaware, to Camden, N. J., is about one mile. The Schuylkill unites with the Delaware about 7 miles below the city, and is navigable for brigs and schooners as far up as the permanent bridge, where it is about 500 feet wide. Philadelphia is laid out with great regularity, with numerous squares, and with streets which cross each other at right angles. The city proper, considered as distinct from its adjoining suburbs, is bounded, north by Vine st., and south by Cedar st. The suburbs called Kensington, the Northern Liberties, and Spring Garden, on the north side, and Southwark and Moyamensing on the south side, occupy, with the city proper, a compactly built area of 3 square miles, containing, in 1840, a population of 220,423 souls. The streets, the principal ones 112 feet wide, and the subordinate ones 50 feet wide, are generally well paved, and bordered by roomy side-walks laid with brick, all kept remarkably clean. The houses, generally of brick, with white marble steps, and window-sills, and lintels, are very uniform and commodious, and present an aspect of unusual neatness, elegance, and comfort. Chesnut and Arch streets are among the most agreeable promenades in the United States.

The business of the city, especially its foreign and coasting trade, is transacted chiefly on the Delaware side ; though, since the great development of the coal trade of the interior, by means of canals and the improvement of the Schuylkill, wharves and warehouses have been much extended on that side ; and these improvements, in connection with the railroad made by the state from Philadelphia to Columbia, and with the Reading and Pottsville railroad, have contributed largely to the extension of all the western section of the city.

The number of houses for public worship, of the various denominations, is about 150, and though generally built in plain and simple style, they are very neat, and some of them elegant and costly. Philadelphia is honorably distinguished for the philanthropic spirit of its inhabitants, and for the number and judicious management of its charitable institutions. Among these, the Pennsylvania Hospital, the various Dispensaries, the Almshouses, Orphan Asylums, Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb, the Lunatic Asylum, the Humane Society, the Savings-fund Society, and various other moral, religious, and benevolent establishments, are particularly worthy of notice. The institutions for the promotion of literature, science, and the arts, are also on a highly respectable footing. Among the most prominent and useful of these, are the University of Pennsylvania, the Athenæum, the Philosophical Society, the Academy of Fine Arts, the Academy of Natural Science, the Franklin Institute, several Libraries, the Medical Society, the College of Physicians, the College of Pharmacy, the Musical Fund Society, Jefferson Medical College, a Law Academy, &c. &c.

The literary journals, and the daily and weekly newspapers, are numerous and of respectable character. The city can also boast of some of the largest publishing houses in the Union ; and its educational means, including not only the ordinary schools, but the higher institutions, for professional as well as general literature, are ample. But the most remarkable institution in the city, both for the extent of its endowment, and the magnificence of its principal edifice, is the Girard College, constructed of white marble, in the richest style of architecture, and adorned with columns of the most superb and costly workmanship. This edifice is 218 feet by 160 feet ; and four other buildings, also of marble, are associated with it, each 125 feet by 52 feet, for the accommodation of professors and pupils. The College grounds form a handsome area of 45 acres, pleasantly situated on the Ridge road, about 2 miles from the centre of the city. On the southern front of the principal edifice, the name and object of the institution are inscribed, in these words: " Girard College for Orphans, founded A. D. 1833. Southern portico finished, 1844."

ROUTES

FROM HARRISBURG TO PITTSBURG, &c.

At Harrisburg this line connects with the Railroad and Stage Line for Carlisle, Chambersburg, and Pittsburg—with the Packet Boats for Lewistown, Huntingdon, Hollidaysburg, and Pittsburg,—also with the Susquehanna Packet Boats to Northumberland, Milton, Muncy, Williamsport, &c.

Through tickets for any of the above places can be secured at the depot, 274 Market st., Philadelphia.

The CUMBERLAND VALLEY RAILROAD, 56 miles, extends from Harrisburg to Chambersburg. Total distance from Philadelphia to Chambersburg, by railroad, 163 miles. This road connects with a line of travel to Pittsburg and other places.

ROUTES BETWEEN PHILADELPHIA & NEW YORK.

There are two great lines of travel between the cities of Philadelphia and New York:—

1st. The Camden and Amboy Railroad Line, commencing at Camden, N. J., opposite the city of Philadelphia, and extending along the left bank of the Delaware river to Bordentown, then diverging across the state of New Jersey to South Amboy, on Raritan bay, whence passengers are conveyed by steamboat to the city of New York, usually passing through Staten Island sound, and across the bay of New York, and landing near the Battery.

2d. By a continuous line of railroads, running from Philadelphia, on the right bank of the Delaware to Morrisville, opposite the city of Trenton, N. J.,—thence across the Delaware river, through Trenton, New Brunswick, Elizabethtown, and Newark, to Jersey City, whence passengers are conveyed across the Hudson river—here about one mile wide—in commodious steam ferry-boats, to the foot of Cortland street, in the city of New York.

RAILROAD ROUTEFROM PHILADELPHIA TO NEW YORK, VIA TRENTON, NEW BRUNSWICK, AND NEWARK.

On leaving Philadelphia by this route, the passengers are usually conveyed by steamboat, during the season of navigation, from Walnut st. wharf to BRISTOL, Pa., 20 miles by water. This is a pleasant place, situated on the west side of the Delaware river, 10 miles below Trenton, N. J., by railroad. Here terminates the Delaware Branch of the Pennsylvania Canal, in a spacious basin, which communicates with the Delaware river.

BURLINGTON, N. J., is situated on the east side of Delaware river, nearly opposite Bristol, being 12 miles below Trenton, by the river, which is somewhat circuitous. The banks of the river in this vicinity are bordered by elegant dwellings, chiefly the country-seats of opulent citizens of Philadelphia.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., situated on the east side of the Delaware river, 27 miles from Philadelphia, is on the line of the Camden and Amboy Railroad, connected, however, with the New Brunswick and Trenton Railroad, by a branch road, 7 miles in length. Here terminates the Delaware and Raritan Canal, affording a water communication between the cities of Philadelphia and New York. Joseph Bonaparte (Count de Surveilliers) chose this as the place of his residence while in the United States, and erected a splendid mansion, surrounded by extensive and highly ornamented grounds, which still belong to the family.

The city of TRENTON, 29 miles from Philadelphia, and 59 miles from New York, by railroad route, is the capital of the state of New Jersey. It stands on the left bank of the Delaware river, at the head of sloop navigation, and contains a state house, built of stone; a house for the residence of the governor; 3 fire-proof state offices, and a state prison; 7 churches; 2 banks; a public library, and a lyceum. Population in 1840, 4,035. This place is memorable for the "Battle of Trenton," December 25th, 1776, when 1000 Hessians were captured by Gen. Washington, with a trifling loss on the part of the Americans.

PRINCETON, 10 miles from Trenton, is pleasantly situated a short distance north of the railroad. It is mostly built on one extended street, and contains about 1200 inhabitants. The College of New Jersey is located here, having been founded in 1746, at Elizabethtown, and removed to Princeton in 1757. It has a president, 12 professors, 263 students, and a library of 11,000 volumes. The commencement is on the last Wednesday in September. The Princeton Theological Seminary, of the Presbyterian church, and founded in 1812, is also located here. It has 5 professors, 113 students, and 7000 volumes in its library.

The city of NEW BRUNSWICK, 29 miles from Trenton, and 31 miles from New York, by railroad, stands on the right bank of the Raritan river, 14 miles from the head of the bay at Amboy. It was incorporated in 1784, and now contains a court-house and jail, 7 churches, 2 banks, and 8,693 inhabitants. This is the seat of Rutgers' College, which was founded in 1770, and has a president, 10 professors, and between 80 and 90 students. The Delaware and Raritan Canal commences at New Brunswick, and runs through Trenton to Bordentown, a distance of 42 miles, affording a safe water communication between the cities of New York and Philadelphia.

RAHWAY, 12 miles from New Brunswick, and 19 miles from New York, is situated on both sides of Rahway river. The village contains about 2,500 inhabitants, 6 churches, an academy, a bank, and an insurance office, besides several large manufacturing establishments.

ELIZABETHTOWN, 5 miles from Newark, and 14 miles from New York, is a delightful place of residence, situated about 2 miles west of Elizabethport, on Staten Island sound. It contains a court-house and jail, a bank, an insurance office, and 6 churches. The population is about 3000. The New Jersey Railroad, and the Elizabethtown and Somerville Railroad, both pass through this place. The latter commences at Elizabethport, from whence a steamboat runs several times daily to the city of New York, passing through "the Kills," and the bay of New York, affording a delightful excursion during the summer months.

The city of NEWARK, 9 miles from New York, and 79 miles from Philadelphia, is advantageously situated on the west side of the Passaic river, three miles from its entrance into Newark bay. This is the most flourishing and populous place in the state, containing, in 1840, 17,290 inhabitants. It is regularly laid out, the streets being generally broad and straight, many of them ornamented with shade trees. Two large public squares, bordered by lofty trees, add much to the beauty of the city, which is a very desirable place of residence. The public buildings are, a court-house and jail; 17 churches, several of them being handsome and costly edifices; 3 banking-houses, and 3 insurance companies. The trade and navigation of Newark is large and increasing, there being here owned between 60 and 70 vessels, engaged in the coasting trade, besides some whale-ships. The manufacture of articles of leather, and of carriages, is very extensive, employing a capital of about $500,000, and several hundred mechanics. In addition to the New Jersey Railroad, which passes through the city, the Morris and Essex Railroad commences at this place, and extends to Morristown, 22 miles. The Morris Canal also runs through the city, in its route from Jersey City to the Delaware river. On leaving Newark, the line of the railroad passes over the Passaic river, across an extensive marsh, and over the Hackensack river to Bergen Hill, which is passed through by means of a deep rock excavation.

JERSEY CITY, 87 miles from Philadelphia, by railroad route, is situated on the west side of the Hudson, opposite New York, with which it is connected by a steam-ferry, the river here being about one mile wide. This is a flourishing place of business, where are located a number of extensive manufacturing establishments. It was chartered as a city in 1820, and now contains about 5000 inhabitants. The New Jersey Railroad, and the Paterson and Hudson Railroad, both commence here, and have fine depots and workshops. The Morris Canal, 101 miles long, also terminates at this place, in a large basin constructed for the accommodation of canal boats.

PATERSON AND HUDSON RAILROAD, 16 MILES.

Passengers leave New York, from the foot of Cortland st., (Jersey City ferry,) at 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ A. M., 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ P. M., and 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ P. M., for Paterson, N. J. Distance, 17 miles. Fare, 50 cts.

MORRIS AND ESSEX RAILROAD, 22 MILES.

Cars leave the city of Newark for Morristown, from the depot in Broad st., at 10 o'clock, A. M., and 4 P. M. Usual fare, 75 cents.

On the arrival of the morning cars at Morristown, stages are in readiness, to convey passengers to Easton, Pa., and other places.

NEW YORK, ELIZABETHTOWN, AND SOMERVILLE STEAMBOAT AND RAILROAD LINE.

Steamboats leave New York several times daily, from the foot of Battery pl., for New Brighton, Port Richmond, and Elizabethtown. At the latter place commences the Elizabethtown and Somerville Railroad, which extends to Somerville, a distance of 26 miles. Total distance from New York, 38 miles.

Time from New York to Philadelphia, 5½ hours.

Passengers during the season of navigation, are usually conveyed from Bristol to Philadelphia by steamboat.

This is the most expeditious route between New York and Philadelphia, passing over the Hudson, Raritan, and Delaware rivers, and through several thriving cities and villages, —some of them celebrated for their beauty of location, and others for historical incidents, enacted during the revolutionary war. The scenery in the vicinity of the Delaware river, below Trenton, is also exceedingly beautiful and interesting.

 from South Amboy to Philadelphia, 4½ hours.

During the summer season, passengers are usually conveyed by steamboat from Bordentown to Philadelphia, stopping at Bristol, Pa., to land and receive passengers.

This is a pleasant route during warm weather, affording a fine view of the harbor and bay of New York, Staten Island, and the New Jersey shore,—passing through Staten Island sound, and landing at South Amboy, at the mouth of the Raritan river, where commences the Camden and Amboy Railroad.

On arriving at Bordentown, the Delaware river and surrounding country presents varied and picturesque scenery, much enhanced by the high state of cultivation and beautiful country residences which adorn the banks of the Delaware, for many miles above and below Philadelphia.

STAGE LINE FROM TROY TO MONTREAL.

Winter Arrangement.

Passengers for Montreal go directly through in the RED-BIRD LINE OF STAGES, in 40 hours from Troy. Fare through from New York to Montreal, $16. Tickets to be procured on board the steamboat.

ROUTES BETWEEN NEW YORK AND BOSTON.

There are now four great lines of travel between the cities of New York and Boston.

1st. By the Long Island Railroad, commencing at Brooklyn, and running to Greenport, near the eastern extremity of Long Island,—thence by steamboat, 32 miles, to Allyn's Point, from which place the railroad extends through Norwich, Ct., to Worcester, Mass., and thence to Boston.

2d. By line of steamboats, leaving New York from the foot of Battery Place, and running through Long Island Sound to Stonington,—thence by railroad through Providence, R. I., to Boston.

A line of steamboats, also, during the season of navigation, runs direct to Newport and Providence, connecting, at the latter place, with the cars of the Boston and Providence Railroad.

3d. A line of steamboats leave New York, from Pier No. 1, North river, for New London and Allyn's Point, connecting, at the latter place, with the cars running through Norwich and Worcester, to Boston.

4th. Another line of travel is afforded by a line of steamboats, leaving New York, from Peck Slip, for New Haven,—thence by railroad through Hartford and Springfield to Worcester, and thence to Boston. When the contemplated railroad from the city of New York to New Haven is completed, this route will afford the most speedy mode of conveyance between the two cities.

For further information, see TABLES OF DISTANCES, &c.

WINTER ROUTE BETWEEN NEW YORK AND ALBANY.

During the close of navigation, passengers are conveyed by the Steamboat and Railroad Line running through Long Island Sound, to New Haven, Hartford, and Springfield, Mass.—thence over the Western Railroad, to Albany and Troy.

Stages are in readiness, on the arrival of trains at the several stations, to take passengers, at low fares, to all parts of Long Island. A steamboat, also, leaves Greenport for Sag Harbor, on the arrival of the cars.

This is the most expeditious and varied route, in regard to scenery, &c., of any between the cities of New York and Boston. The steamboat route from Greenport to Stonington, or Allyn's Point, is deeply interesting, affording a view of the shores of Long Island, Connecticut, Long Island Sound, and the broad Atlantic ocean. Passengers usually take their meals on board the steamboat, it being two hours' run.
